In uncertain times, our private spaces become even more important, and as we spend more time at home, our outside areas become even more precious. In our feature on roof gardens, on page 58, we look at the joys of cultivating a green space on top of your property rather than—or as well as—around it, and meet the landscape architects designing the most desirable city oases.

Our featured properties for this issue are equally notable. Red Gate Farm was Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis's summer home on Martha's Vineyard, while The Ritz-Carlton Residences at King Power Mahanakhon in Bangkok are some of the world's most desirable, and most talked about, branded residential condominiums.

And if desirability, for you, comes on four wheels, don't miss our feature on the best new hybrids and EVs on page 50.

As ever, our Gallery, Gourmet, and Travel pages offer a curated selection of art, design, style, and architecture stories, as well as culinary homewares, books, and news from the world of food and drink and travel.

We also present listings for more than 140 luxury properties for sale around the world from our exclusive affiliates, starting on page 73, while christiesrealestate.com has even more.
